

WHICH SIDE ARE YOU?

JOSH FREIBERGER

ALLIANCE, NE

Spending a lot of hard earned cash on drugs to treat 100 calves with summer pneumonia.

Spending a lot of time doctoring calves.

A lot of wear and tear physically, catching and treating 400 pound calves.

Quit treating and started Riomax®.

Got healthy calves hitting the ground.

Way less summer pneumonia.

Saving $3,000 - $3,500 (conservatively) in drug costs alone.

LARRY CHAMBERLAIN

DOUGLAS, WY

5% death-loss from enterotoxemia.

Struggling with coccidiosis and scours in calves.

Periparturient and post-calving prolapses are prevalent in our herd.

Dealing with retained placentas on a regular basis.

The incidences of enterotoxemia in neonatal calves for the most part are zero cases.

Zero problems with coccidiosis.

No periparturient prolapses and very few post-calving prolapses.

90% less retained placentas.

NJ ANGUS

ADRIAN, OR

Shooting for a 60 day window and selling anything outside of 60 days.

Have bloody discharges at cleaning.

The most uniform crop with a 45 day calving window.

They clean so quickly you can't tell they've calved

They're hitting the feed early, hitting the tubs and they're just growing!
